This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

WISCONSIN

CIRCULAR.

One of the most important objects of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, as set forth in its constitution, is the collecting and preserving a library of books and pamphlets; and, to this latter object, especially, its officers would respectfully make an earnest appeal to its friends for their co-operation.

It has been justly said of pamphlets, "that though they often require more time and labor to collect than the same number of volumes, and cost more than they are worth, yet they contain information not elsewhere to be found. They reflect the spirit and sentiments of the age better than elaborate treatises, and are indispensable treasures in a good library, where eminent historians, biographers, statisticians, and men of letters in general, naturally look for whatever may shed light on the subjects of their investigation. They are so small, that they are likely to be torn in pieces, and every copy of entire editions to disappear.

"The correctness of these statements is confirmed by the action of the Bodleian Library, which is paying fabulous prices for pamphlets and books that its founder did not think worth preserving, and of the British Museum, which is doing the same for what could have been procured a century ago for little more than the asking—the rubbish of one generation being the treasure of another.

"When a single paper mill, in a single year, has been known to grind up ninety-eight tons of books and pamphlets, with about the same quantity of newspapers, we may well be admonished of the danger of the utter loss of many important pamphlet publications, and to plead for their contribution to our collection.

"It is, therefore, desirable at once, so far as practicable, to secure at least for a few public libraries, copies of everything which is printed, for in the mysterious diversity of human investigations, there is nothing which may not at some time be important."

We send you this circular with the hope that you will favor the Society by sending such portion of your accumulations in the way of books and pamphlets as you can conveniently spare, which can be sent by express or by mail, addressed to the Historical Society. All pamphlets received will be properly classified and arranged, bound and indexed, for the convenient use of all who desire to use them.
